NEW SENSORY CORNER LAUNCHED AT KIVETON PARK LIBRARY

Sensory Corner was launched on Friday 28 June at Kiveton Park library to help children with special needs to enjoy the library and all that it offers. The idea came from regular borrower Heather Sheldon who worked with the Rotherham Libraries team to gain funding to purchase materials and get the corner up and running.

Heather said: “Having a child with Dup15q, autism and severe sensory needs made doing little things like visiting the library challenging at best. My proposal for a sensory corner was well received and as a family we’re delighted that it will benefit all in the community.”

Dinnington library will be next to launch a sensory corner, with the hope for all Rotherham libraries to eventually have a sensory corner.

The Blue Badge scheme to be extended to people who have less visible disabilities, making journeys more accessible, this change to the scheme is the biggest in nearly 50 years with the extended criteria coming into force on Friday 30 August 2019.

The new criteria will extend eligibility to people who:

• cannot undertake a journey without there being a risk of serious harm to their health or safety or that of any other person (such as young children with autism);
• cannot undertake a journey without it causing them very considerable psychological distress;
• have very considerable difficulty when walking (both the physical act and experience of walking).
